

Mike Nabavi
CEO & Chief Growth Officer

Mike Nabavi is the CEO and Chief Growth Officer of BankLink, bringing decades of entrepreneurial and leadership experience to the forefront of financial innovation. As a three-time tech CEO and two-time solutions architect, Mike launched his first business during his undergraduate studies, scaling it to a team of over 35 employees before exiting to pursue opportunities in technology.

Mike's journey in tech began during the pre-dotcom era, with early success in leading high-value technology sales to asset management firms in the southern United States. He later played a pivotal role in drafting a business plan that helped secure $30.75M on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

His career includes building and scaling innovative technology ventures, such as a fiat and crypto PayTech company, and founding and exiting a tech accelerator. Mike has also advised, mentored, and invested as an Angel in numerous advanced technology firms. Before focusing on tech entrepreneurship, Mike worked with Deloitte and his own consultancy, advising financial institutions, Government, and enterprise clients on strategy, execution, and organizational development.

Mike's passion for entrepreneurship stems from his belief in its transformative potential to create value and give back. Mike is well recognized for his expertise in designing financial and legal frameworks that foster collaboration and mutual benefit.

At BankLink, Mike provides visionary leadership, spearheading the creation of a resilient, regulated, decentralized banking ecosystem designed to empower FinTechs and drive their success.
